1st Circular – 2nd March, 2015

The next edition of the Ecole Joliot Curie is entitled :

“Instrumentation, detection, and simulation in modern nuclear physics”

EJC2015 is mainly devoted to instrumentation and detection in nuclear physics. It will allow physicists and graduate students to be trained in the latest techniques of instrumentation, detection and analysis in nuclear physics. This school aims at placing the national and international community in the best position to address these physics starting from instrumentation up to data analysis, in the framework of the arrival of next-generation facilities. The communities of hadron physics and nuclear structure will be gathered at this occasion as well as instrumental and experimental communities in nuclear physics.

The school will take place from September 27th to October 2nd 2015 and will be held at Cap'vacances l'Estanyot Le Barcarès (near Perpignan) in the south of France.

Participants are expected to arrive in l'Estanyot on Sunday 27th September 2015 from 2:00 PM and leave on Friday 2nd October 2015, after lunch.

Two sessions dedicated to the student's posters will take place on Sunday and Monday evening. Two sessions of “mini-workshops” will be organized on Tuesday and Wednesday evening. The workshops are lectures with practical content involving a reduced number of participants. Therefore, we invite the participants to bring along their personal computers.

Information about the school can be found on our website <http://ejc2015.sciencesconf.org/>

Pre-registration will be possible from March 2nd to April 24th 2015.

The attendance being limited to 70, a selection of participants if necessary will be made at the end of the pre-registration period. Each participant will receive an e-mail on behalf of the Organizing Committee about their acceptance before May 8th 2015. Financial support can be attributed to participants.
