Vietnamese painter receives Japanese prize

Vietnamese painter Nguyen Dinh Dang has been awarded the "Outstanding Rising Artist" prize by the Sompō Japan Fine Arts Foundation under Sompō Japan, a big Japanese insurance group.

The painting for which he received the prize, "Exit", is now being displayed at the Shutai 43 exhibition in Tokyo.

Nguyen Dinh Dang is a member of the Vietnam Fine Arts Association and a nuclear physicist who has been working in Japan since 1995.

The prize is handed over annually to 36 outstanding painters of leading Japanese Fine Arts Associations and 26 others introduced by the Sompō Japan Fine Arts Foundation.

All awarded art works will be displayed at the Seiji Togo Fine Arts Museum in March 2009.
